

Considine Boosts Idea For New Gym

By JULIAN SINGMAN

• BOB CONSIDINE, University alumnus and former tennis and badminton star, brought the ancient dream of a new, well-equipped gymnasium and new fieldhouse a little closer to reality last Wednesday night at the annual Monogram dinner sponsored by Colonials, Incorporated. The banquet was held at the Shoreham Hotel for the purpose of honoring publicly University athletes in all fields and to make special awards to outstanding participants.

After President Marvin had spoken of the plans that have been drawn up for a new athletic plant and insisted that the necessary $1,200,000 will be raised in the near future, Mr. Considine announced that he was tired of hearing the new gymnasium spoken of in the future tense. "We need a stadium now," he declared, "and there are enough men here tonight who could shell out to start the ball rolling."

"A few minutes after 'America's leading ghost writer' sat down, President Marvin strode to the speaker's stand to announce that he had already received two checks to start the fund-raising campaign. The spontaneous drive was on! Men at the head table could be seen reaching for their checkbooks and fountain pens. The checks were handed over to Mr. Max Farrington, Director of Men's Activities at the University, who will act as custodian of the new building fund. In one of his first official acts as new president of the Colonials, Inc., Dr. Irving Brotman announced that he would appoint a committee to help expand the fund in that organization.

Although perhaps somewhat less startling than Considine's other talks proved interesting and entertaining to those who attended. Jim Haley, outgoing president of the Colonials, reviewed the year's events in athletics remarking that "this is the first time in years we don't have to apologize for the past." He then introduced Dr. Brotman, the incoming president, and Dean Elmer Louis Kayser, the toastmaster for the evening, saying that the Dean "is as well known as Dave Shapiro and Andy Davis."

President Marvin gave a brief survey of the progress the University has made in the 22 years he has been here. When Dr. Marvin came to the University, the total lands and holdings of the institution came to $1,300,000, the budget totaled about $500,000, and we (See MARVIN TELLS, Page 13)

Andrews Sets Charity Extension

• ADELINE ANDREWS, chairman of the Student Council Charity Committee, has announced that the drive will be extended for another week, ending May 3. Proceeds are to be used to give a partial University scholarship to a student from a foreign country.

Participating organizations were notified last week of their times to control the booth in the Student Club.

Miss Andrews has urged all organizations not able to participate in soliciting contributions on campus to take a collection in meetings. Money collected may be turned in at Mrs. Farrar's office in the Columbian House.

Organizations supporting the drive will compete for a cup to be awarded to the group with the highest average contribution per member.

"During the extra week's campaign Miss Andrews will coordinate the activities of those groups contributing to the success of this campaign to help a foreign student.

As this paper goes to press there are still openings in the schedule for the booth in the Student Club. Those interested in aiding this cause should check with the schedule in Mrs. Farrar's office.

The Student Council Committee coordinating the drive includes Adeline Andrews, chairman; Janet Wildman, secretary; Edith Harper, publicity; and Maxine Sowards, contacts.

Patent Law Association Seats Research Foundation Here

• THIS UNIVERSITY was chosen as the seat of a Patent Research and Educational Foundation by the American Patent Law Association as a result of a majority referendum vote of the members April 15.

The original resolution, recommending the establishment of the Foundation and that it be located here, was introduced at a general meeting to the Association by Conder C. Henry, member of the Board of Managers of the Association, former Assistant Commissioner of Patents, and a University alumnus.

Following the acceptance of the resolution, a committee was appointed to draw up a trust agreement designed to implement the foundation. One of the features of the agreement will be the establishment of an Advisory Board composed of representatives of industry, other universities, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and the various technical societies.

Under the proposed charter the Advisory Board would be privileged to request research on matters that are within the concern of the Foundation.

Administration of the Foundation will be in the hands of the University. Complete academic freedom will be granted with the understanding that the underlying idea and general object of the Foundation shall be to educate the public with respect to patents.

The purposes of the Foundation include promoting and fostering research, education, training, instruction, and publication in the fields of patent laws and patent systems of the various nations and especially of the United States; providing of articles and speakers on patent subjects; conducting seminars relating to patents; and establishing chairs for the teaching of such subjects as the Foundation chooses.

Location in Capital

The University was chosen as the ideal site for this Foundation because of its location in the Nation's capital, its patent tradition, and its long experience both in public relations and in training patent lawyers.

Newman Club Plans All-U Formal

• TICKETS FOR the all University prom Campus Celebrity Capers, sponsored by the Newman Club are now available. The dance will be held at the Wardman Park Hotel, Saturday, May 7, with Jack Morton's Orchestra. During intermission the Southern Conference will present awards to ten basketball players who went to the Southern Conference Tournament.

Debaters Place First In Tourney

• ELAINE LANGERMAN and Ann Pasternack placed first in the Grand National Forensic Debate Tournament, April 14 to 16 at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia. Three other University students carried off honors at the event. Sixty-three schools were present to debate the topic, "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Adopt a Policy of Equalizing Educational Opportunities Through Tax Supported Schools by Means of Annual Grants."

Miss Langerman and Miss Pasternack were the only ones to win all of their debates which included contests against teams from Rochester, Tulane, Knox, High Point, Carnegie Tech, South Carolina and Northwestern.

Three Others Place

The men's team, consisting of Steve Grubb and Henry Krebs tied for fourth place with Penn State. Grubbs and Krebs also won individual honors. Grubb took first place in the Washington extemporaneous speaking contest, and Henry was among the 'big nine' in the discussion contest on the United Nations and World Government. Betty Russell placed second in the Charlotte extemporaneous contest.

Henigan Coaches Team

The students, all members of The Colonial Forensic Society, were coached by Mr. George F. Henigan of the speech department.

Miss Langerman and Miss Pasternack took first place in the women's debate last year and have been debating together for two years. Both made Who's Who this year for their leadership in campus activities. Elaine is president of Alpha Lambda Delta, secretary of the Colonial Forensic Society, political chairman of IZFA, a member of Alpha Theta Nu, Pi Gamma Mu, Delta Sigma Rho and Hillel. She also holds a debate and a Columbian Women's scholarship. Miss Pasternack is in her senior year as a speech major. She is vice-president of the Colonial Forensic Society, a member of Alpha Theta Nu, Delta Sigma Rho, Current Affairs Club, World Government Seminar, and Mademoiselle College Board Editor for four years.

Colonial Boosters Announce Spring Membership Drive

• COLONIAL BOOSTERS announced plans for their annual Spring Membership Drive May 9 through 11.

Membership in Colonial Boosters entitles a student to special reserved seats for himself and his date (or a girl and her date) as well as an opportunity to participate in pep rallies, placard stunts, away game activities and other football season festivities.

Colonial Boosters plan to have a booth in the Student Club throughout the drive to help students obtain their membership cards. Membership in Colonial Boosters is good only for one year duration, invalidating last year's memberships.

Bill Benson heads the 1949-50 Membership Drive Committee. Next meeting of the Committee will be Wednesday, April 27 at 3 p. m. in the Student Council Offices.

Register Monday

Early registration for the first summer session will be held on Monday, May 2, from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. No classes will meet that day.

This Is No Pep Talk

• INTERESTED students, who are anxious to see good student government of activities and operation of the new Student Union, will vote this week for Student Council Officers.

Those who are not interested may vote because of a particular friend's desire that they do so, or because of the mass buttonholing that will occur at the sites of the polls, Lisner Terrace and Columbian House. No amount of trumpedump on our part would increase the vote by any sizeable number.

All in all, the vote this week should be a pretty fair picture of just how many students care how the new Union will be managed from the very beginning . . . minus, of course, the number of people who will forget to have their student books with them to present along with identification at the polls.

Sebastia Story

• RAFAEL SEBASTIA, a 24-year-old Spanish pianist, made his American debut at Lisner Auditorium last night under adverse circumstances but before an enthusiastic audience. The strike of pressmen and the stereotypers on Washington newspapers had interfered with advance publicity, nevertheless, the audience made up in applause for what it lacked in size.

The appearance of Mr. Sebastia was sponsored by the Hatchet, weekly journal of the George Washington University. The artist has played with Sir Thomas Beecham and the London Philharmonic and in many European capitals. He plans a recital soon at Town Hall in New York.

Wishing You Every Success

. . . I am in receipt of your letter of recent date with which you inclosed tickets for a benefit recital by the young Spanish pianist, Rafael Sebastia, on Friday evening, April 12.

I have retained four tickets for this benefit recital and am pleased to send you the enclosed check.

Wishing you every success in your endeavor, I remain

Mrs. Truman Expresses Interest

. . . Mrs. Truman is very sorry that an engagement for the evening of April twelfth prevents her from attending the benefit concert to be given in Lisner Auditorium.

She has asked me to express her regrets to the editorial staff of the University Hatchet that she is not able to show her interest in your plans for the new building by attending the concert that night.

Very truly yours
Mrs. J. M. Helm
(Secretary to Mrs. Truman)

All The Bad Breaks

. . . You got all the bad breaks. First there was little time to prepare and promote the concert. The Philadelphia Orchestra's concert offered stiff competition. The newspaper strike prevented adequate advance publicity. Printing and distribution difficulties affected ticket sales. And, of course, the artist was virtually unknown in Washington. With all these problems, if you come anywhere near breaking even, you can consider the concert a success.

Scott Kirkpatrick,
Publicity Manager,
National Symphony Orchestra

The Hatchet came near breaking even, but didn't come close to what was expected. To say students here are not interested in music and the advantages of having great artists here would hardly be founded, for it has been estimated that of the three hundred some persons at the Sebastia recital, half were students of this University . . . very nearly the number of students who attended the Student Council music comedy "Johnny Jones" a few days before. We still think it was a good idea—whether we'd try it again having to do the whole thing ourselves is questionable . . . it'd take another surge of extracurricular energy . . . and it sure takes a lot to get University approval of a job that you do yourself.—ed.

CAMPAIGN SPEECH

"Vote for Blow," the speaker cries,
"He's friend to you and me.
As soon as he's in office
What a lot of work you'll see.
He's liked by all the students;
The pros think him a brain.
His QPI of two-point-0
Was got without much strain.
For years he's been so active
In the dear fraternity,
They say that he could run it
With a staff of two or three.
His loving cups fill mantels
At the Gotta Deta house.
He is kind to little children.
And he wouldn't hurt a mouse.
His prowess on the field of sport
Is known to one and all.
He's made a dozen touchdowns
Where'er he's had the ball.
Recall what I have told you
When to the polls you go.
To cast a vote for progress,
Please cast your vote for Blow!"

Letters To The Editors

Active Student Wants Active Alumni

Dear Hatchet:

Dr. Irving Brotman's comments at the Monogram Dinner last Wednesday night on the lethargy of the GWU alumnus underlines the need for a review of the alumni situation as it affects the University and its future at the present time. There seems to be a difference in opinion among various members of the active alumni and the administration on just how active or inactive our alumni really is.

The fact that the University General Alumni Association has allowed Colonials Inc. to develop as a semi-autonomous organization points up the fact that either Colonials Inc. is being presumptuous in its efforts to bring about a better athletic situation at the University or the older, less active General Alumni group has missed the boat. Here again there seems to be a variety of opinions.

It is high time that the University officials take a good long look at our alumni. The University today is a big deal. Cancer clinics, endowments from great corporations for Chairs of Law and the immense physical gains of the University in the past twenty-five years are but a few of the tremendous steps the University has taken within the memory of many of its faculty. George Washington is a big school now and needs a big school alumnus. If GWU can compete with the Ivy League for endowments it is about time we get an alumni that is comparable to the Ivy League alumni.

Therefore isn't it about time for those members of the alumni, administration and student body who want to see a high powered alumni office at GW to decide who is correct—Dr. Brotman and his contention that the GWU alumnus is in pretty bad shape or President Marvin and his contention that all is well amongst the alumni. Such differences are emphasized in the inept manner in which the latest Colonials Inc. membership drive effort was handled by the University Alumni Review. In this magazine, sent to all duly enrolled alumni, Colonials Inc. paid for having a subscription blank attached to the center page. However, the identifying news story did not appear on that page but rather on the next page—ineptness or indifference?—such things are a small matter but are indicative of the position to which alumni affairs are relegated in the University pattern.

This writer hopes that the impromptu move for a fund to finance the new field house and stadium which was begun at the Monogram Dinner is but the first of a series of alumni demands for more effective alumni cooperation in the growth of the University.

President Marvin has done a terrific job in the past twenty years—and all too few of those who see the immediate evidence of his untiring work appreciate it—let's hope that he will let the alumni—sparkplugged by Colonials Inc.—lift part of that tremendous burden from his shoulders—in the very near future.

Active Student.

Like A Drunkard Using A Lamp Post

Dear Hatchet:

Sammy Sooner Singleton takes exception to Mr. French Crawford Smith's statement that James Melton's is not a great voice. After using his English textbook like a drunkard using a lamp post—for support rather than illumination—he then innocently proceeds to state glibly that the criterion of artistic greatness is popularity. By this token he will in all probability deplore the lack of calendar art beside El Greco and Velazquez at the National Gallery of Art and the absence of comic books on the same shelf with Milton and Shakespeare at the local library.

The readiness of the musically illiterate to air their cultural bankruptcy is indeed remarkable. Sammy is a sophomore at the University which automatically recalls to mind an Arabic proverb: "The ass went to Mecca, but he returned an ass." Coming from a rural background, this should not work undue hardships on Sammy.

Actually, Mr. Smith is just as accurate in stating that Melton does not have a great voice as he would be in stating that Sammy is not a great writer. A polysyllabic string of words is no substitute for clearness of logic and lucidity of expression. Rather it is the sort of thing characteristic of a whelp in the novel-writing phase of adolescence, an adolescence deriving its inspiration from Gene Autry and The Lone Ranger.

Does Mr. Smith know any girls with voices? I'm sure he does but it is doubtful whether an introduction would do Sammy any good; perhaps it would be advisable to wait until Sammy attained a little more intellectual maturity.

Cordially,

John Dierks

It's On The Record

By FRENCH CRAWFORD SMITH

A BRIGHT YOUNG CHAP, recently graduated from Stanford University, came up with an idea recently. He is David Fulton who believes that what local colleges and the National Symphony need is a FORUM similar to those functioning on the west coast.

Briefly, here is how the system works. A committee of three or more students from each college or university acts as a nucleus in forming and operating a music forum on campus. Guest conductors, soloists, musicians, critics, etc., appear from time to time to discuss, and perhaps demonstrate, their work. Interest in good music is thereby stimulated while a musical education is gained or, at least, supplemented.

In addition to directing the forum's activities, however, the committee also acts as agent for the sponsoring body—in this case the National Symphony Orchestra—and sells, at substantial discounts, season tickets to its performances. It all boils down to the simple fact that students and faculty members will be able to buy one Wednesday series at a ten percent discount or both Wednesday series (20 concerts) at a twenty percent saving next fall when the campaign gets under way. A thousand such tickets have been set aside for this purpose; it is significant to note that the popular Sunday series is not included.

The forum will be a city-wide project with, it is hoped, all colleges participating. Each person who buys a season ticket will "automatically become a member of the National Symphony Forum." The leaders from each campus will meet several times each year to formulate future plans, chart progress, and the like. The first meeting is tentatively scheduled for May 7.

We feel this is a worthwhile project—especially for those institutions which are so unfortunate as to have no music department. But it is there that the going will be roughest. Readers interested in giving the forum a boost are urged to contact Mr. Fulton at the National Symphony Office, telephone NA-7198.

MARTIAL SINGHER, outstanding French baritone, has recorded two song cycles for Columbia. The first is composed of the three "Ballades of Francois Villon" by Debussy; the second, by Ravel, is based on the Cervantes tale, "Don Quixote." These are sung intelligently and with versatility by the balding baritone who has been successful at the "Met" in recent years, albeit he, too, does not have a "great voice." What it lacks in sheer power is easily compensated for by its expressiveness, almost deceiving one into thinking that indefinable something is there. The LP disc also features the eight French operatic arias which the artist recorded a few years ago.

FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT of the Watergate Concerts: Howard Mitchell, conductor of the National Symphony, will again be musical director of the popular Watergate concerts. The season will get under way with a "gala" opening on July 3. Gladys Swarthout, leading American mezzo-soprano, will be guest artist. Miss Swarthout holds the attendance record for these concerts for the past two years so hurry and get your ticket now, before it's too late.

COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT: Frequently we get accused of using clichés ad nauseum. So we stumbled onto a word completely new to us and for several weeks contrived to fit it into a column. We succeed—only to have the printer insert a typographical error which the proofreader overlooks, twisting our precious "new" term into an ordinary adjective which doesn't quite fit anyway.

DEAR MR. SAMMY SOONER SINGLETON: If you will leave your address with this office, I shall be happy to have forwarded to you my reply to your letter of recent date.

Sylvia Duerksen, Virginia Myers Win Prizes In ODK Art Club Show

VIRGINIA MYERS stands beside her prize winning oil painting at the Art Show held last week in Strong Hall Lounge.

SYLVIA DUERKSEN and Frank Cullen, ODK President, view her first prize painting in water color at the reception Saturday.

FIRST PRIZES in the University's newly-established annual show were awarded last Friday to Sylvia Duerksen and Virginia Myers in the water color and oil divisions respectively for their paintings "Georgetown" and "Turbulence." Vicks Chemical Co. will have a representative at the University May 2 for interviews to fill sales promotion jobs. All interested seniors should make an appointment for interviews at the office of the Columbian College and have a job application blank on file at the Senior Class Office.

For those interested in summer employment, Mr. Thomas Reed will be in room 204 in the Bender Building, May 5 from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. He is offering jobs in selling for Real-Silk Hosiery Co.

Pictures Returned

PICTURES from the art exhibition may be picked up in the art club office in the Bender Building today from 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and tomorrow from 10 to 11 a. m. and from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m.

The art club will elect officers at a meeting today at 4 p. m. in room C Columbian House.

of Georgetown houses on a summer's day realistically yet without any clutter of unessential detail.

"Turbulence" by Miss Myers is strong in color and well organized in composition. It is a landscape painting with figures and horses depicting tumultuous action.

A simple well studied composition is Mrs. Herrick's abstraction, "Girl with Blue Shawl." Flat color and design achieve here far more than a realistic interpretation of the subject could have done.

First honorable mention went to Charles Uhl for his oil painting, "Yale 1901." It is a portrait executed with a touch of cubism which ennobles its theme. "Sea Scene" by Charles Gieseking is a descriptive composition which projects the artist's impressions of waves and rocks. A pen and ink wash of a B-50 by Reith Ferris was awarded third honorable mention. Knowledge of airplanes and ability to render them realistically as a camera reproduces its subject are the characteristics of this work.

Sixty-two pictures representing wide ranges of mood and color gave interest to the show which attracted more than 500 visitors during its three day exhibition at Strong Hall. J. Russell Mason, Curator of Art, announced that the prize-winning pictures are on exhibition in the University Library.

May Day Committees Meet Tomorrow

THERE WILL BE two meetings for the furthering of May Day plans. Both meetings, the May Day Booth Chairman and the May Queen Candidates, will be held in Bldg. D, at 3 p. m., on Wednesday, April 27. The Booth Chairmen are to meet in Room 102, and the May Queen Candidates are to meet in Room 202. Mary Ellen Allison, Student Council Freshmen Director, urged that persons associated with the respective groups be present at their meetings "as May Day plans must be completed by the end of the week."

Fraternities Hold Variety Of Spring Parties, Dances

Acacia

• A MOTLEY CREW of Acacians donned weird and fanciful garb last Saturday night for their "Come as You Care" masquerade ball. From ten 'til . . . the crowd sang, danced, and made merry in the midst of the shooting flames and billowing clouds of smoke of the recently redecorated Hell Room. The fact that the change to daylight-saving time was stealing an hour from the party didn't seem to dampen the festive mood of the evening.

The selection of costumes ran the gamut from the sublime to the ridiculous. Greek Warriors, Chinese dancing girls, girls as guys and guys as girls, missionaries, honeymoon couples, Hawaiian sea captains and even the Toni twins all joined together to make the Acacia House resemble a slight blending of Noah's Ark and St. Elizabeth's. Appropriate booby prizes and prizes for the most original garb were awarded while the costumed band took a well-deserved rest.

Annex Group Meets To Iron Out Problems

• RUDOLPH VOLIN, chairman of the Student Union Annex Committee, announced an open meeting of his group this Thursday at 4 p.m. in Room 300 of the annex to consider questionnaires which were sent to organizations having office space. These forms are to be returned by 5 p.m. tomorrow to Mrs. Farrar in Columbian House.

The Student Union Annex Committee, under the direction of the Student Council, coordinates the use of this building and is composed of members from the Hatchet, Sailing Association, Psychology Club and Independent Students Association.

in conjunction with Delta Sigma chapter from the University of Maryland last Saturday night.

The highlight of the evening, preceding a highly entertaining magic show by Jim Krefting, was the crowning of the girl chosen unanimously by the brothers of the University chapter as their 1949 "Delta Queen." The winner, Ruth Tomasick, was crowned by Brother Charles Crichton, toastmaster for the coronation.

The dance was preceded by a cocktail party at the Delt fraternity house, newly decorated and designed by Bob Valliant. After the dance, the brothers and their dates flocked back to the house where dancing to phonograph music continued until late in the morning.

Kappa Sigma

• THE TERRACE ROOM, at the National Airport, was the setting for the Kappa Sigma Spring Formal. Before the dance, the pledges threw a cocktail party, which was followed by a roast turkey dinner.

The speaker of the evening was James V. Bennet, Director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons (who did not appear in an official capacity—thank goodness!). After the address, during which Jack Lane was presented with the past President's key, the couples danced to music provided by Eddie Bucklin. During the intermission, the prize-winning Kappa Sigma Songsters provided additional entertainment.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

• SATURDAY NIGHT, at their Connecticut Avenue retreat, the members and pledges of Sigma Phi Epsilon held a poverty party. The beautiful rooms were transformed into something out of a hobo jungle. Signs, such as "Give to the Poverty Stricken—student's Relief Fund," served to heighten the effect.

Pledge Herb Taylor and his date, Kathy Harrison, were chosen the most poverty-stricken couple in attendance. They were presented with a lovely sheet-iron and brass-tubing cup. It is hoped to make the presentation an annual affair. The bar, which has been recently renovated and improved, was in rare condition.

Colonials, Inc. Offers Low Rate For 1949 Seniors

• COLONIAL INC., formed several years ago to aid in building up the University's athletic program, is offering graduating senior men a special introductory membership of two dollars instead of the usual ten dollar fee.

Composed of GWU alumni active in local business, the group has done much in the last two years to improve the calibre of GWU athletics. Sponsors of the annual Monogram Dinner, arrangers of entertainment for the athletes and advocates of athletic facilities at the University the group is noted for its frequent gatherings and enthusiastic membership.

Seniors interested in Colonials, Inc., may receive application blanks in Mr. Farrington's office.

• GOSSIP COLUMNS ARE and have long been devoted to just that. Rumor, embarrassment—just anything to create the effect of knowledge. If this columnist were to stick to what was known to be pure fact, this column might well end here.

However, in spite of people who try to amuse and confuse, we'll mention these items of the week.

We have noted that Spring Fevers STILL burn strong in the ADPI's determination to make hay while the moonshine lasts at Great Falls Friday nite . . . The Sigma Nu's spurred on their social saddles with a small function called the Pioneers Ball . . . Rugged Man, Rugged.

Love is sweeping the Delt House. Minds are full of amor. Both the sexes are having complexes that Freud would simply adore. Buzz is marching to Bonnie MacLean, Husak Ann Gene Stratt-on. But to Peg and Gregg, Hark-le-road to Black-burn's. Requires thought, don't it? James Joyce no less.

But if you're in the market for love, the Delt holds no monopoly . . . Syr-acuses Acacia is pinned to KD Ann Waldsten . . . And Ex-ISA prexy Bob Klein swung a ring to Jan Lawson.

Order in the Court! And the KA's Moot Court held another session. The defendant, dastardly Dionne Dalton, was adjudged guilty without a defense . . . Oh! shades of the Iron Curtain . . . No news from Sigma Chi . . . No news is good news?

And another man breaks under the Strain
Another man falls, to bite the Dust.

As the chains of life disintegrate, in Rust.
Farewell fond life. I settle to the Bottom . . .

Yea! but the fog settles on an addled Brain.

The Scholarly Approach or

How To Criticize Poetry Composed Over 100 Years Ago

(Written by a man whose life is plagued with the thought that maybe the cave man had something we've lost.)

• IN USING THE SCHOLARLY approach to poetry there are two main points to keep in mind: A) Nobody ever had an original idea; B) A scholar never says plagiarized, he says "was influenced by." In the example that follows, the student is advised to read the poem through first for its beauty before perusing the criticism.

The Lost Love

By Coleman Northup

O! Where can my true love be?
The grass is green,
But I am mean,
O! Where can my true love be?

O! She has flown.
I am alone.

I've lost sweet Mary O'Gonski!

* Notice that the pastoral element is introduced at the very beginning. It is here, of course, the culmination of a tradition that goes back to Theocritus in the third century B. C. In writing pastoral poetry, Northup was, perhaps, revolting against the turn to city life taking place at this time.

* One cannot fail to note the intense sensuousness of the poet as shown by the use of such vivid words as "green." He seems to be saying here that sensuousness, properly conceived, can lead to a fuller life. Compare with Spenser, Milton, Keats, and Hyman Kaplan.

* We are impressed here with the subjective approach of the poet. Professor Schoenhausen has suggested that this is ample evidence of his influence on the romantic school.

* Note the use of archaic language—a good example of the debt the poet owes to Chaucer. The word "mean" here implies low, that is low in spirit. Professor Gottlieb has paraphrased this line, "My very soul shudders with the loneliness of a lost lover."

* How obvious the Byron influence is here! As Professor Drumstrum has said, "The influence of Byron in this line cannot be denied, although Northup died before Byron was born." The use of exclamation is also, of course, further evidence of the Chaucerian influence.

* Note the fine lyrical quality of this line. Professor Barthumb has suggested that the intense subjective lyrical quality of this line is indicative of the romantic spirit that pervades Northup's work. Professor Schoenhausen has suggested that Professor Barthumb's interpretation is indicative of the romantic spirit that pervades Professor Barthumb's work. Professor Gottlieb has suggested that Professor Schoenhausen is insane.

* The poet's full genius comes out in his brilliant word choice here. By using the word "flown," rather than just "gone," he imparts an angelic quality to his lost love and raises her to a position of majesty equal to that of Dante's Beatrice. Of course, the angelic figure is an example of the religious strain that run through most of the poet's work. Recent scholarship has shed considerable light on the religious background of Northup. We can say, with certainty, that this line might never have been written if the poet had not read John Bunyan extensively in his fourteenth year. One should note the similarity to such religious poets as Herbert, Crashaw, and Hyman Kaplan. Professor Coville has observed that the conceit here also shows a metaphysical influence. Compare with Donne, Vaughan, and Quarles.

* Northup now comes to the core of his theme. Here is the poet in full flight! The emotional effect on the reader is tremendous as the poet conveys to him the terrible feeling of loneliness (See FORD'S FOLLIES, Page 7)

An Epic Returns

'Somersault' Meets Approval; Production Shows Originality

By RONALD ROSS and JOHN J. FORD

• PROGRAM NOTES said "Somersault in the Sea" was a farce, and, as such, though its progress was at times picturesque, it was an entertaining production which showed originality in writing and which boasted a cast that had the ability to create original and humorous characters.

Written by Zelda Fichandler and Ed Mangum, the idea came from a newspaper clipping reporting a prison strike. Miss Fichandler directed, with Mr. Mangum as associate director.

In handling the material, the authors showed originality and a fine sense of dramatic humor, particularly in such scenes as the telephone conversation with Wilbur Budd and his wife Dora, the Botany scenes with the Professor and Hortense, and the oar scene. The switch on the old burlesque rope trick was also well handled.

Al Berkowitz wrote the music for the show. The outstanding numbers were the mop song, the French number which could have been a little louder, and Wilbur Budd's song in the Warden's office.

Outstanding among a group of distinctive comic actors were Louis Teitel as Wilbur Budd and Barbara Kananack as his wife Dora. Teitel's handling of the timid "trustee" was so adroit that one would almost think the part was written for him.

Don Muir and John Wilson, as the Professor and "Cabbie" respectively, both succeeded in creating unusual and acceptable characters.

Henry Danilowicz as the Inspector, although not appearing until the third act, produced one of the most memorable characters of the play and, in his voice control and body movement, demonstrated a finished acting ability. Stan Telchin as the Thug and Warner Schreiner as the Warden gave their usually competent performances.

The use of the P.A. system was effective and gave a sense of movement in time similar to the device used in "Mr. Roberts."

The sets, designed by Donald Kline of the University Art Department, more than set off the comic effect. The use of two levels was a striking innovation that demonstrated considerable ability on the part of the directors and the set designers.

The use of original scripts by the Players is, we feel, a practice to be commended and continued. They should be produced at least once a year, and would be a fine incentive to University playwrights. "Somersault in the Sea" might even be revived again at a later date.

College Publicists Plan Convention Here Today

Others on the panel will be Dr. John Dale Russell, head of the Higher Education Department, U. S. Office of Education; and Emery C. Wine, program analyst of the Bureau of the Budget's fiscal division.

Wayne Coy, Federal Communications Commission director, will participate in a television program. Others on this program will be Sterling W. Fischer, NBC; Charles Underhill, CBS—both of whom will come from New York for the meeting; and Robert Cochran, director of programming, WMAR-TV, Baltimore, Md. These four will speak and answer questions from the floor on the subject "Television in the Future of Higher Education" at 2:30 p.m., April 28.

Other speakers from Washington will be Ernest K. Lindley, columnist and Washington Editor of NEWSWEEK, who will address the Thursday noon luncheon on "Covering the Washington Scene," and the following science specialists: Watson Davis, head of Science News Service; F. Barrows Colton, National Geographic Magazine; Dr. George Gamow, authority on nuclear physics and professor here; and Theodore Wiprud, Secretary of the District of Columbia Medical Society. Richard C. Lee, Director of Public Relations at Yale University, will also participate on the panel.

The American College Public Relations Association is a 32 year old organization. It meets in the Nation's Capital for the first time this year.

Alumni Review Tells Harmon Story

By Charles R. Daugherty, AB '44

(From an article appearing in "The Alumni Review," April 1949)

• TWENTY-FIVE years ago this Spring, a black-haired freshman in the Medical School with a love for music and a wonderful ability to transmit his verve and enthusiasm to his singers, strode out in front of the Men's Glee Club of The George Washington University. His name was Robert Howe Harmon. He had been a member of the Club for three years and its director for one. At his side sat his wife and accompanist, Grace Ruble Harmon, and in front of him stood a club of 28 voices, ready to present the Club's Sixth Annual Concert.

Today Dr. Robert Howe Harmon is Associate University Physician. His directorial ability has grown with the years, to a point where he ranks with the best in the nation. Mrs. Harmon, a fine and sympathetic accompanist, is still tremendously interested in the Clubs.

Who are these people, and where did they come from? Doctor Harmon was graduated in 1915 from Millsap College in the State of Mississippi with a Bachelor of Arts Degree and a Southern Conference record in the pole vault. He taught at the Agricultural High School for Stone and Harrison Counties of the same state, and while there met Grace Ruble, a teacher of Dramatics and Music. They were married December 27, 1917.

An academic career seemed firmly in his grasp, but the Fall of 1921 saw him enrolled as a premedical student at The George Washington University in answer to a compelling desire to practice medicine and relieve suffering.

The real glory of the Glee Clubs began and has continued with the Harmons, because they have provided the necessities of continuity, competent direction and inspiration.

Insofar as achievement and public recognition are concerned, it can be said that for the Glee Clubs, the first ten years may have been the hardest but they were also the best.

Dean Elmer Louis Kayser dropped into a 1941 rehearsal of the Men's Club to listen, and on request, provided an eloquent and moving story of the almost unbearable pride and joy he felt in March of 1930 when he sat in Carnegie Hall to witness the crowning of his Alma Mater as undisputed Inter-Collegiate Champions of 1930.

The next year, as defending champions, the men placed third behind New York University and Yale. 1931 saw also the first joint concert of the Men's and Women's Clubs. Doctor Harmon had taken the women over in 1928 and in 1929 they sang a joint concert with Johns Hopkins, but this was the first time they had sung with their classmates. The two clubs have been singing together harmoniously ever since.

The Men's Club went to Pittsburgh in 1935 for its third and last competition and finished second behind Penn State and ahead of Connecticut Wesleyan. Since that time its appearances have been largely local, and have been highlighted by annual concerts. Between 1932 and 1944 they were held at the Willard and since then at various halls with frequent appearances with the National Symphony Orchestra.

The second war, of course, dealt with the men's club in summary fashion. It was only by dint of extraordinary effort, plus loyal support from alumni, that the groups were able to carry through without a break.

Directing a chorus, particularly of amateurs, is hard work, but to Doctor Harmon, it is relaxation from a pace that keeps him going night after night tending to the sick.

Skin And Bones

By M. Z. SEBORER

PROFILE

The next time you see Dr. Preston A. McLendon, Professor of Pediatrics, take a good long look at him. He is a quiet-mannered, soft-spoken courtly gentleman who has a way with children. But there's more. He is one of the very few doctors who are entitled to wear the Navy Cross, the Distinguished Service Cross, and the Croix de Guerre! He was decorated for his heroism and bravery under fire while he was a Navy battalion surgeon in the 5th regiment, 2nd division, U. S. Marine Corps, during the engagement with the enemy at Blancmont, France, in 1918.

The son of a doctor, he was born in Wadesboro, N. C. After attending Wake Forest, he received his medical degree from Columbia University in 1915. Since he had a 6-month wait before beginning his internship, he decided to go to Serbia where most of the country's doctors had died in the widespread typhus epidemic which swept the Balkans in 1914-15. The Red Cross had arranged for a group of American physicians to go to Serbia as a relief unit. Dr. McLendon soon learned to speak Serbian and found that medical problems were the same in Serbia as in the U. S. He conducted general family practice in the villages, had clinics, and made visits. He observes that "The Serbians were generally more philosophical regarding their illnesses than are Americans."

Medicine was decided on as a career when he was 5 or 6 years old. He had had a very bad case of GI upset and when he was recuperating, he determined that nothing would do but that he must become a doctor. From that time forth, he was known to everybody in the community as "Doc." He became interested in pediatrics while studying at Columbia under the late Dr. L. Emmet Holt, who later went to Peking to teach. The selective feeding regimen for infants found an early advocate in Dr. McLendon in 1942. Later, he, together with Dr. Parks, was chiefly instrumental in setting up the rooming-in arrangement at the George Washington University Hospital. He has participated in some of the original work done on the clinical use of paraminobenzoic acid and aureomycin in Rocky Mountain spotted fever. GI manifestations of food allergy have always been a source of great interest to him.

He is a member of Sigma Psi, Smith-Reed-Russell Society, the American Medical Association, the Cosmos Club, and is alternate District Chairman for the American Academy of Pediatrics. He is also a member of the Conference on Problems of Early Infancy of the Josiah Macy, Jr., Foundation of N. Y., and a member of the Southern Medical Association.

GOINGS-ON

This week, from 24-30, is Mental Hygiene week. In this connection, it should be mentioned that an exciting new concept of "minor psychiatry" has been put into full operation at Mt. Sinai Hospital, N. Y. under the guidance of Dr. Martin Sternberg.

In Hall A, at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 26, there will be a discussion of problems of diagnosis of cardio-vascular diseases, led by Drs. Ethridge, Hull, and Manchester.

The German Assn. for Internal Medicine will meet at Wiesbaden, Germany on April 25-28 to discuss the chemotherapy of cancer and tuberculosis, as well as the surgical treatment of heart diseases. Two thousand doctors from Germany and foreign countries are expected to attend.

of the unrequited lover. This approach to love, of course, is a movement that has persisted in literature since The Romance of the Rose. And notice the simple language with which the poet gets his effect across. How very remarkably like Wordsworth!

Scholars have been at odds for years in attempting to identify the woman here (Mary O'Gonski is, of course, a name used for its poetic effect and to hide the true identity of the poet's lover). In this regard, however, we may accept with some certainty the theory of Professor Gottlieb that it is Marie Antoinette. In this respect, note the striking similarity of the first names. Professor Gottlieb has also pointed out that both names have the same number of syllables. Further proof, is a statement of the poet in an earlier letter to a friend in which he says, "I love those French women!"

On this point, however, there is still much to be said.

Veterans Should Pre-Register By May 2

Students wishing to void subsistence payments after May 26 must notify the Veterans Administration 30 days before the end of the term. Name, C number and university attended must be included. Council Elections

p.m. in the Student Club. The dance is sponsored by the University Band.

Chuck Lillen, present Student Council Advocate, is handling the operation of the elections and expresses the hope that this year's returns will set a new campus record.

Presidential candidates Charles Crichton, James Foley, and John Graves made the following statements on being queried by Hatchet reporters as to their platform:

Crichton's statement: "Since you who are reading this column are undoubtedly well acquainted with the existing problems of Student Government here, I would like to discuss briefly and honestly one of the more basic ones. The recently adopted Constitution vests in the Student Council only jurisdiction over student activities. However, it is axiomatic that for any Student Council to operate effectively, it must not only regulate student activities, but must also be free to advise the University Administration (in the strongest terms when necessary) of student's needs and desires. It is my opinion that Dr. Marvin should and would accept constructive criticism from the student body through the Council. In this manner pressing problems such as parking facilities, the University Chapel and medical care can be ironed out. The one possible difficulty which must be avoided, would be if the Council operates apathetically. It will be my prime objective, if you give me the opportunity to serve as president, to see that the Student Council give careful consideration to campus problems through attendance and industry and by keeping in closest touch with the student body through the Council of Vice-Presidents."

Foley's statement: "Student Union Committee membership, while it may indicate my interest in the operation of the new Student Union building to be opened next month under the direction of the Student Council and a Union manager, should not be counted as one of my qualifications for Student Council president. The committee has been formed only a few weeks, and has not had a real chance to function. As Student Council president, one of my first objectives would be to see that the new council was fully 'indoctrinated' as to Student Union plans, the council's position in the forming of policy, and University regulations concerning student activities, so that such unfortunate situations as the recent charity drive mixup could be avoided."

Graves' statement: "The greatest needs of this University should be in the hearts of each student, especially during the election of a new Student Council. Certainly the best interests of the entire student body and the progress of the University should be in the intention of a candidate for President of the Student Council. I hereby pledge myself to promote the following program:

"Establishment of a Music Department (full time professors etc.)
"Correction of traffic and parking problem—action already taken to Senate District Committee and District Commissioners.
"Recommendation of greater care of University buildings, i.e., washing of windows; phone booth and repair of seats in Law School; reduction of price for rental of University buildings such as the Linsner Auditorium and gymnasium. New furniture and janitorial service for Student Council office.
"Adherence to new Student Council Constitution for complete autonomy of the Student Council.
"A bi-weekly edition of the Hatchet.
"A Student Council elected by a large student vote will certainly influence progress of this program."

Inquiring Reporter Finds:

Non-Voters Have Weird Excuses

By NANCY SULLIVAN

Question: Are you planning to vote in the next school election? If not, why not?

JEANNE RHODES: Of course, I'm voting! Any student who expects to enjoy the benefits of fine student representation on this campus should make it his business to evaluate the qualifications of each candidate up for election—and vote.

TONY HENNING: I'm not going to vote because too many people have been trying to saletalk me into voting for their candidate. It has passed the free choice stage.

JEAN GROSS: My sorority fought for the privilege of woman suffrage and having attained it, should I be so lax as not to exercise it?

HOMER KIRBY: As yet I have not decided whether to vote or not. First I would like to see some of the issues discussed—intelligently. Then I can decide.

HOWARD A. YOCUM: I should like to vote in the coming elections, but am unable to do so because I am a graduate student. I believe that this state of affairs should be remedied.

JACK SMITH: No, in school elections I always vote against the candidates I know, but in this case I don't know any so I don't know whom to vote against.

DAVE LUM: Oh, sure, I'll vote. This is probably the only chance I'll have to vote without paying a poll tax. Then I can save the money I would have used for more beers on Saturday night.

FRANK BON: I'm not voting because I don't know enough of the abilities of the candidates. Perhaps this is due to the candidates not getting around to let people meet them. And besides I'm not so sure that once they are elected they have any power to act for the student body.

DAVE HILDRITH: If I happen to pass the polls, have nothing better to do, can find my student book and other suitable identification, then maybe I'll vote.

BETTY SWANSON: I plan to vote on general principles, but there are too many cliques and deals going on to make this really a democratic election.

DAVE TAYLOR: If I can use my student book to get free cigarettes, I am certainly going to use it to vote and show a little school spirit.

MARY V. WHALEY: I just always do. After all, we should take advantage of our democratic privileges.

Thirteen Men Initiated By ODK, Marvin Speaks At Supper

• OMICRON DELTA KAPPA, national men's honorary for achievement in activities and leadership, held its twentieth initiation at the Delta Phi Epsilon house last Friday night. Thirteen men who had been tapped at the Interfraternity Sing in March were inducted into Alpha Delta Circle, ODK's local chapter.

Eleven students and two outstanding men connected with the University were present at the ceremony conducted by Frank Cullen, president of ODK and Dick Generally, secretary.

Robert E. Freer of the U. S. Federal Trade Commission and member of the University Board of Trustees and Professor S. Chesterfield Oppenheim of the Law School were the two non-students honored. Other initiates were: Lawrence R. Brown, Raymond Hanken, Arch Harrison, Garo Krikorian, Ervin J. Lillgren, Chet McCall, Jim Pearce, Julian Singman, Julian Stein, Stan Telchin and Dwight Worden.

The initiation was followed by a buffet supper in the Welling Hall dining room at which faculty and administration members were present. President Marvin addressed the group after supper paying tribute to the ideals for which ODK stands, and also giving some off-the-record comments on the future of the University. Dinner was followed by refreshments at the scene of the initiation, Jack Embry presiding.

The next Omicron Delta Kappa activity will be a luncheon in the Faculty Club, Wednesday, May 4, at 1 p.m.

Marten, British Secretary, Speaks

• F. W. MARTEN, First Secretary of the British Embassy, will speak at a meeting to be held by Delta Phi Epsilon, professional foreign service fraternity, at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, at the Eta Chapter House, 820 22nd Street, N. W. The topic will be "The European Recovery Program as a Motivating Factor in the Unification of Europe."

Mr. Marten, in an official capacity, attended the Conferences of the I. T. O. at London, Geneva, and Havana. Following this assignment, he worked during 1948 on the Foreign Office phase of the Marshall Plan.

DPE cordially invites all male students interested in international affairs to hear this address. Following a question and answer period, refreshments will be served.

Psi Chi Detect Little White Lies

• THE LIE DETECTOR will be demonstrated by Psi Chi, honorary Psychology fraternity in connection with National Mental Health Week. The machine will be operated and described by Capt. W. J. Curley of the U. S. Army. The demonstration will be Thursday in Government 101 at 8 p.m. All university students are invited.

Intramural Track Meet Walkoff Staged By Arrow Linen Crew

By JOE BARISH

• A WELL BALANCED Arrow Linen team overwhelmed all competition and completely dominated the third Intramural Track Meet held Saturday afternoon at Western High's field.

Approximately 200 men participated in this year's meet which in the past has never seen a squad so completely overshadow its opponents. Always a close affair, the meet became a debacle as the Red and White of Arrow Linen managed to garner valuable points in all 19 events.

Manuel Font, Johnny Grinnell, and Charlie Gunner gained the distinction of being double winners, all three representing Arrow Linen. Font anchored the half mile relay team and broke the tape in the 60-yard dash with a good 6.5 clocking. Grinnell ran the first leg on the one mile sprint medley, and then he heaved the shot put 40 feet 5 inches. Gunner, running in the 400, took the lead from the gun and held it throughout the grind to finish in 55 flat. He then ran second leg on the victorious half mile relay team.

Sigma Chi provided the day's major upset when Bill Shirey led his team-mates Bill Evans and Dick Hildreth across the finish line in 1, 2, 3, order. The winner's time was 10.9. In the 880-yard run, John Lytle (Arrow Linen) did a perfect job of pacing himself.

60-Yard Dash: Font (Arrow Linen); Kerr (PIKA), Bushnell (Kappa Sig).

220-Yard Dash: Davies (Sigma Chi); Shaw (Arrow Linen), McMillan (DTD).

440-Yard Dash: Gunner (Arrow Linen); Levinson (Phi Alpha), Almy (Arrow Linen).

880-Yard Dash: Lytle (Arrow Linen); Berford (Independent), Foster (TKE).

Half Mile Run: Duncan (Arrow Linen); Jones (Arrow Linen) Zuckerman (A.L.).

were in debt to the tune of three quarters of a million dollars. Today, the total value of holdings is about 25 millions, the annual budget is approximately 6 millions, and all indebtedness has been wiped out. The University is now engaged in an extensive building program. The Student Union, which according to the president will be "the finest set-up of its kind east of Ohio," will cost about $450,000.

Following Dr. Marvin, and admittedly stealing the show, was Head Football Coach Bo Rowland. His dry, mid-west style of humor had the banquet hall echoing with guffaws almost constantly while he was speaking. Coach Rowland expressed his delight at hearing that "we're in as good financial condition as we are," observing that there was a lot of fine football material he was forced to reject because of the limitations in scholarship grants. In closing, the Coach became quite serious and stated that "the happiest year of my coaching career has been the last year since I came to GW."

Spring Drill Ends For Colonial 'II'

• SPRING FOOTBALL practice came to a halt last Thursday, with the final scrimmage that afternoon. Six weeks of hard workouts have turned the gridmen into a smoothly working machine. Coach Rowland and his assistants seem to be satisfied with the products of the spring season.

Moving up from the Freshman team were Bill Shaw, Joe Kennelly, John Tivnan, Bob Cilento and Lou Ciarrocca. Both Cilento and Tivnan were working in with the varsity, and coming up to last year's expectations. Kennelly has been showing the way with his line backing and blocking.

Buff Look For Victories After Losing Bat Slump

By WARREN GOULD

• GEORGE WASHINGTON'S 1949 baseball express will make its second stop today when the Colonials meet VMI at Lexington, Va. The third road trip opponent will be William and Mary whom the Buffmen will visit tomorrow, and upon their return to Washington, will tangle with VMI again on Friday, this time at Griffith Stadium.

Table Tennis, Bowling Kings Gain Crowns

• IN THE LAST two weeks, the finals of both fraternity bowling and table tennis have been run off, with Pi Kappa Alpha copping the bowling crown from the Argonauts, and Phi Sigma Kappa taking the table tennis title by defeating Phi Alpha three matches to one.

After disputes and play-offs, PIKA finally won the fraternity bowling championship by swamping the Argonauts, 1058-953. Jack Clark and Paul Garrett had high sets with 223 and 226, but Seal of the Argonauts had the honor of rolling the top individual game of 121. A curious windup to a most disputed bowling season was the fact that when PIKA was forced to roll off with Phi Sig for the league title, they went into the match with a fourteen pin lead and wound up the match with a lead of sixteen—so the roll off proved exactly nothing. Phi Sig and Acacia will roll for third place next week.

In four very close matches, Phi Sigma Kappa successfully defended their table tennis crown by taking measure of Phi Alpha three matches to one. All but the last match was forced to go three games and several of these games were duce games. It was the 20th straight match for Phi Sig over a two-year period.

As the squad left for Blacksburg, Va. Sunday for their first game against VPI which was played yesterday, the prospects for a successful trip were anything but great. Naturally, Coach Vinnie DeAngelis could not carry his entire squad so that the Colonials who made the journey will be called upon to produce effectively and often. Particularly anxious was the pitching situation. As can be seen by the results of the last few games, the hurlers have had rough going most of the time. Pete Cordelli, Curly Kuldell, Bones Becraft, and Tim Shank have been carrying the pitching load so far, and could have used a rest this week, but it will probably be these gentlemen who will face the three Virginia enemies this week. Should these starters weaken (as they often have) there won't be too much help from the bull pen.

An idea of the power that might unfold this week against the Old Dominion foes was displayed when (See BASEBALL, Page 16)

WRA To Hold Awards Affair; Ginny Myers Wins Swim Meet

By BEANIE PEEL and ANN NOLTE

CLIMAXING the 1948-49 sports seasons will be the WRA Awards Tea, to be held Tuesday afternoon, May 3, from 4 to 5 P. M. in Strong Hall, Lounge.

The tea, held for the purpose of awarding athletic letters and trophies, serves a double purpose this year, as it is then that next year's officers for WRA will be announced and installed. Recognition will be given to winners of minor and major letters, stars, individual trophies, and keys. Nan Mitchell, WRA Awards Chairman, is in charge of the presentations.

Ginny Myers, retiring President of WRA, extends to all participants in hockey, soccer, archery, riding, tennis, golf, bowling, basketball, badminton, softball, swimming, and rifle, a cordial invitation to attend the tea.

KKG Takes ISAB Swim Meet

Kappa Kappa Gamma swam to victory in the Inter-Sorority Swim Meet held Wednesday night, April 13, at the YWCA pool. A total of 56 points gave the Kappas the blue ribbon, while Delta Gamma placed a creditable second with 33% points. Chi Omega took third with 12% and Sigma Kappa placed fourth with 11%.

Barbara Gallagher, KKG, was the star of the meet as she took individual honors with 16½ points. Jane Pyle of Delta Gamma swam a close second with 14. Dot Whitley of KKG placed third with 13, and Calva Kephart of Chi Omega took fourth with 12½.

Virginia Ford placed first in the diving events, Calva Kephart won the 60 yard medley, and the Kappa Kappa Gamma girls clinched their title with a win in the 120 yard relay, the final event in a very successful swim meet.

Ginny Myers Wins All-U Meet

New holder of the All-University Swimming title is Virginia Myers, a versatile swimmer who can compete with equal success in form and speed events. Ginny earned a total of 20 points in the All-U Swim Meet held last Wednesday night at the YWCA pool.

Rolling 937, the Colonial bowlers placed third in the March edition of the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Duckpin Bowling Tournament.

In the April matches, which were held last Wednesday afternoon, the Buff 'n Blue holds a 100 point lead over the closest competitor, Brown University.

SCHNIP'S CLIPPINGS

By HERB SCHNIP

LAST-WEEK THE ALUMNI got together again to honor the athletes, as is the custom every year. And as is customary, intercollegiate sports was proclaimed king, and the guest speakers were on hand to herald the ancient monarch and all those who labor to support the throne.

The usual awards for varsity achievement were presented. A football luminary held no reservations in describing the institution of collegiate athletic competition as the "last remaining true element of democracy." A leading sports columnist reminisced of former varsity teams at George Washington, their trials and tribulations. Then there was the University's football coach who spoke in the humorous tone that he was expected to contribute. The University president was also present to illuminate the ole grads and their guests to the tremendous strides made in recent years in the building of our fine scholastic institution.

Everything ran as scheduled. There was but one new innovation. What was not of the ordinary at a banquet such as this was the laughter. Not that mirth hasn't been present at former Monogram Dinners—this was a special type of humor that was experienced by the revelers. In the past, it has been a sense of "what the hell, our teams haven't done well, let's pass it off with a laugh." This year it was "we've done well in the past year, and we've got a right to be optimistic about the future."

Yes, they still talk about the wonderful stimulating effects of competition on the athletic field, but no longer is this considered as a substitute for winning which now is the primary concern of all. We're not kidding ourselves any longer; we want to see the outstanding teams at G. W. that can enhance the reputation of the school, and enable the student to acquire the "esprit de corps" familiar to so many other institutions.

Winning teams at G. W. is now the purpose of alumni endeavor—a change from former years. This was evidenced by President Marvin's calling for an contribution of $1,200,000 for a new gymnasium, and Bob Considine's immediate stimulating effect which had the checks coming in hardly before the words had left his mouth. Another clue was given by Colonial President Dr. Brotman as he personified the general attitude of a growing Colonial organization which shall awaken a hitherto slumbering sports-mindedness among G. W. alumni. And Bo Rowland's announcement that he had "bought a home and 'spect to stay awhile" invoked this new laughter of those gathered.

If this new attitude on the part of our alumni, on the part of our Administration, and even on the part of our athletes can be met with similar responses among the student body, those people connected with George Washington will be able to change the smile of tolerance at past history of Colonial athletics to a grin of pride and confidence at the records of G. W. teams present and future.

FROM THE FILE:

In beating Maryland on Saturday, Tim Shank became the first Colonial hurler to register two wins. His first was chalked up in a relief stint against Michigan. . . . Joe Famulatte leads the G. W. regulars at the present with a fat 400 average. He is being hard pressed by Hank Bartelloni's .382 clip. Chet Pietras is the only other regular in the charmed circle, as the foot-footed infielder is currently sporting a .310 record. Don Druckenmiller's .281 is next although utility infielder Tony Caruso has a .500 percentage with 3 for 6. . . . Incidentally, this year's diamond co-captains are Chet Pietras and Garo Krikorian.

Sig Nu, PiKA Pace League A Softball Fight

AFTER THREE WEEKS of delay, the fraternity softball leagues finally got underway with ten games being played in each of the two leagues. Sigma Nu and Pi Kappa Alpha swept both ends of their doubleheaders in League A, while in League B Sigma Chi, the defending champions, along with Tau Kappa Epsilon and Phi Alpha, took two games.

Sigma Chi got their title defense off with a bang by walloping Acacia 28-3. Jim Hall and Bill Shirey took over the pitching chores for the Sigs and held Acacia to seven hits. Dick Koester, Shirey, Johnny Jacobs, and John Nuttman combined batting power to add to the rout. The game was called at the end of the third inning to allow the teams to get to their second

W. Forest Track Meet

ALL-TRACK MEN interested in participating in the extramural meet with Wake Forest this Saturday afternoon are asked to contact Joe Krupa immediately. The meet will be at 1 p.m., Western High Track.

In the second game, Hall let KA down with only one hit, and the big bat of Koester smacking a double and a triple, and knocking in 5 runs brought Sigma Chi a 9-1 victory over Kappa Alpha. Dan Norman got KA's only hit.

Phi Alpha's Charlie Goldberg proved too much for both KA and Phi Sig and by holding both teams to eight hits, became the first fraternity pitcher to notch a double win. Al Grenadier and Stan Kaiser were the batting stars for Phi Alpha in the first game while Orch Bennington and Jack Skelly were outstanding for KA. The final score was Phi Alpha 6, KA 4. In the second game, Kaiser started things off right for a long home run with a man on base to give Phi Alpha a lead. Phi Sig tied the score on hits by Vernon Eytchison and Gene Leonard, and until the fourth inning the game was close, but then Harlan Woods, the Phi Sig pitcher blew up and Phi Alpha coasted to a 12-4 win.

Tau Kappa Alpha, using the same battery in both games, took measure of Acacia and Sigma Phi Epsilon, 6-3 and 2-1. George Whitt and Chuck Spence made up the winning battery. Al Fugat hit a home run for SPE. Phi Sigma Kappa, on the hitting of Harlan Woods and Mel Chrisman and the pitching of Stan Williams took AEPI 11-5. AEPI took measure of SPE in their second game 9-2.

PIKA got off to a good start by slaughtering TEP 29-3. Jim Hudson got a triple and two doubles and Dick Holroyd hit for the circuit. In their second game it was again Jim Hudson, Biff Mauriello and Jack Clark's hitting that brought the Pikes their 10-2 win over Theta Delta Chi.

Sigma Nu, the only other team in League B to win two games got victories from Theta Delta and Delta Tau Delta.

In a pitchers battle between Ralph Embler and Percy Uehlinger, the Deltas saked out a close 2-1 win over SAE. With the bases loaded in last inning and two outs, a hard smash between short and third eluded the SAE third baseman and the winning run crossed the plate.

Our Joe Fam Wields Stick In Big Way

By SANDY GOODMAN

UP AROUND Glen Cove, New York, on the shores of the Long Island Sound, the Famulatte family is well known for their athletic abilities. Despite some tough competition from his brothers and sisters, however, there is little doubt that our own Joe is the best of the lot. He has certainly proved this in his three years as a center on the football team and as third sacker on the baseball nine.

In high school, he was a three letter man, starring as wingback on his football eleven, playing guard on the basketball team, as well as almost every position on the baseball squad. He received all-scholastic recognition for football in the New York area, captained the basketball team in his senior year, and also was given a baseball tryout by the Yankees in 1941. In his senior year, Joe was also chosen as the outstanding athlete in his school.

Unfortunately, his athletic career was cut short when he entered the Navy. This was a good break for the University, however, as it was Jack Pendergast, Joe's gunnery officer on the cruiser Montpelier who persuaded him to enter George Washington. It is somewhat ironic

Netmen Win

BULLETIN—George Washington's tennis crew swept through American U., 9-0, yesterday. With the 5-4 win over W-L last Friday, this triumph gives the Colonials a four-game streak.

that Pendergast is now assistant football coach at Georgetown under Bob Marguerita.

Now let's look at Joe's accomplishments since he has been at George Washington. In football, he just didn't seem to get the breaks, and though he had always been a back previously, Skip Stahley converted him into a center where he has been of great value as a reserve. In baseball, which is really his first love, Joe has been one of the top stars on the team.

In his initial season, Joe led the club in hitting as he whacked the ball at a .360 pace. Last year he fell down to a .305, and this season, which could be his best, he is slugging to the tune of a .400 average to lead the team's regulars. He has also punched at least one hit in each of the eight games in which he has played.

The figures alone, however, do not tell the full story of Joe's value to the team. He is not a flashy type of player, but is a man who is at his best when the chips are down. He can be counted on to make the game-saving stop at the hot corner, or to deliver a clutch hit when it is needed the most. He is always a good bet to get a piece of the ball as can be attested to by the fact that he has only fanned five times in three seasons.

Joe, who is a physical education major, is one of the best liked of all Colonial athletes. He has entertained his buddies at Welling Hall on more than one occasion with his impersonations of sports personalities.

The Arrow Linen sportsmen have now amassed a lead in the race for the All University Achievement Trophy that is unsurpassable. Only if the Laundrymen forfeit the remainder of their softball games could they be overtaken and the coveted trophy won by some other organization. At present Arrow Linen has a grand total of 1377 points (a new record by almost 300 points) while Sigma Chi has moved into the runner-up spot with 826½ markers. Kappa Sigma, defending champion, has dropped into the third slot with 785 points followed by Pi Kappa Alpha and Alpha Epsilon Pi with 741 and 630 points respectively.

This showing of Arrow Linen can be marked as a personal victory for Al Evry, energetic manager of the team. Evry has done a tremendous job this year in molding the Sportsmen into a powerful job in maintaining the team together. Only once in the past three years (in 1946-47 when Backbooth Boys placed second behind Theta Delta Chi) has an Independent team ended up in the first eight teams in the final tabulation for the All-

U. trophy, thus indicating the very great organizational and administrative problems facing any such organization. It is only once in a great many years that a leader of the calibre of Al Evry comes along and it will be a long time before another person will have the patience, stamina, "know-how," and ability to organize an independent team to such a degree that has been done during the past year.

The winner (all those who placed) in the Intramural Meet last Saturday will have an opportunity to show their wares in two more contests within the next ten days. Saturday an "extramural" meet will be held with Wake Forest High School while Tuesday, May 10, will be the Annual All-District Extramural Competition at Georgetown. With a little training the G.W. squad could turn in some very capable times and performances. Charley Gunner was particularly impressive in the 440 with a sizzling :55-flat as was Jim Font in the 60. Orchie Bennington copped the pole vault with a jump of 11-feet 1-inch, a creditable performance for any meet.

Baseball

George Washington broke loose from a two game losing streak last Saturday and outlasted Maryland 9-8 on the Terp's field. It was a parade of home runs as Garo Krikorian drove two circuit smashes to the hinterland and Don Druckenmiller poled the ball over the left field fence in the ninth. Needless to say, Krikorian and Druckenmiller were the offensive heroes of the day, but Tim Shank turned in the best pitching effort for George Washington by stopping the Old Liners with two runs and four hits in the last five and two thirds innings of the game. During this stretch on the mound, Shank used his curve to good effect by striking out five men.

Unfortunately, all the afternoons recently have not been as thrilling or as beneficial for George Washington. For instance, last Wednesday the Buff and Blue played cousins to Richmond for the second time this season, the score being 12 to 1. Bones Becraft was getting along fine for three innings, but the Spiders let loose in the fourth and scored seven runs. Richmond built up further on Tim Shank in the closing frames. Dan Ramer shackled the Colonials for the third time in his career, allowing six hits.

The less said about the Lafayette massacre the better. The visitors from Pennsylvania won, 20-1.
